

MKTG 560: Consumer Insights

Turn Data Into Decisions. Insights Into Impact.

Spring 2026 | Tues/Thurs 10:00–12:20 | PACCAR 395

Instructor: Tim Hossain

What Is MKTG 560?

MKTG 560 is a hands-on, applied course focused on how organizations systematically gather, analyze, and translate consumer data into actionable business decisions. This course mirrors how consumer insights actually work in modern companies. You will learn how to move from ambiguous business questions to data-driven strategic recommendations.

What You'll Actually Do

- Frame messy business problems into clear research questions
- Design surveys, experiments, and research plans
- Work with real consumer datasets
- Apply qualitative and quantitative methods
- Use AI tools responsibly to accelerate insight development
- Translate findings into executive-ready recommendations

This is not a theory-heavy research class. It is a practical, career-aligned skill-building course.

Why It Matters for Your Career

Companies hire marketers who can:

- Make evidence-based decisions
- Defend recommendations with data
- Connect consumer behavior to product and GTM strategy
- Communicate insights clearly to stakeholders

This course prepares you for roles in:

- Product Marketing
- Marketing Analytics
- Strategy & Consulting
- Growth & Revenue
- Brand & Communications
- Consumer Insights

Who Should Take This Course?

This course is for students who want to be the person in the room who can say: “Here’s what the data actually tells us and here’s what we should do.”

If you want practical, modern insight skills that employers value, this course is for you.

Questions? Email: thossain@uw.edu